STANLEY SECURITY PRODUCTS OFFERS FREE TRIAL VERSIONS OF STANLEY® VIP® X VIDEO MANAGEMENT SOFTWARE AT ASIS CONVENTION

Fully Functional Software Available at Stanley Security Solutions Booth 1013

Las Vegas NV (ASIS Show) – September 24, 2007 – Stanley Security Products, a business division of the Stanley Security Solutions Group that distributes access control and video surveillance solutions through a network of authorized dealers, today announced a special promotion at the 2007 ASIS Convention that provides end-user organizations with free, fully functional copies of software for the Stanley® VIP® X Digital Video Management System.

The free software, which runs on most PCs, is the commercial version of the product and will work with a single IP closed circuit television (CCTV) camera, enabling end users to test it thoroughly. If satisfied, the end user then only needs to purchase a software license for the number of additional cameras (analog or IP) required. The free Stanley VIP X software package and camera license, representing a $940 retail value, is available at the Stanley Security Solutions exhibit in booth 1013 at the ASIS show.

“The Stanley VIP X system builds on our heritage in the digital video business, and unveils a truly comprehensive set of capabilities for working with both analog and IP video,” said Andrew Michie of Stanley Security Products. “Customers can now try the Stanley VIP X system without risk and see first-hand the impact that replacing an old digital video recorder with Stanley VIP X can make. It provides an instant and dramatic improvement over an existing system’s picture quality in both live view and recorded playback and is accessible from anywhere on a network.”

Stanley VIP X is a highly scalable application that allows local and remote control of any CCTV system – from innovative and easy-to-operate entry-level systems with a small number of cameras to large hybrid installations managing unlimited numbers of cameras with multiple servers or multiple sites – delivering high-quality images and immense storage capability. Multiple systems are seamlessly consolidated in a single enterprise-wide solution for viewing, querying and configuration purposes.

Stanley VIP X is designed to integrate seamlessly with existing CCTV components as well as third-party transaction systems, such as automated teller machines, point-of-sale systems, alarm panels and access control systems. The functionality of existing components is extended through integration to the enterprise network. As a result, the existing CCTV investment is protected and end-users are able to take full advantage of technological advancements in IT and video surveillance equipment.

Additionally, a video compression feature enables end-users to optimize their storage requirements depending on their specific application. The system also provides remote access to recorded and live video via a point-and-click Windows® interface and supports both analog and IP cameras.

The Stanley VIP X product also includes the following features:

- Multiple server consolidation
- IP-distributed architecture
- Remote administration from central location
- Multiple display support with display profiles
- Support for comprehensive range of resolutions
- Support for mega-pixel cameras
- Extended list of supported IP cameras and encoders
- Choice of video compression (JPEG/MPEG-4)
- Extended internal storage capacity (up to 6TB per unit)
- Selective redundant archiving
- Pre-motion recording
- Runs as a Windows® service, so that the system does not have to be logged on to Windows® to run, thus avoiding “auto” log-on issues
