STANLEY Mechanical Security Unveils New Innovation Center to Advance Product Lines, Brands and Solutions

STANLEY Establishes Premier Think Tank Space for Team Members in Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, IN – July 17, 2015 – STANLEY Mechanical Security, a leading global manufacturer and service provider of comprehensive security technologies and solutions for a wide range of industries, announces the official opening of its new Innovation Center located at its headquarters in Indianapolis, IN. The Innovation Center is designed as an interactive space for all STANLEY staff and team members involved in every facet of the security industry to collaborate in a premier R&D setting. The Center's primary mission is to enhance STANLEY's development process in creating tangible, functional and innovative solutions that satisfy the varying security needs and visions of customers in a broad range of markets.

The STANLEY Security family of brands is well-acknowledged – with STANLEY, BEST, PRECISION and Sargent & Greenleaf each represented in its own dedicated area within the Innovation Center as a reflection of STANLEY's commitment to provide customers with more robust products, services and solutions. All products are prominently displayed to showcase the evolution of STANLEY's most trusted product lines, providing team members with the essential knowledge needed to extend STANLEY's current portfolio, solve customer issues and compare product features against competitor products.

“The Innovation Center perfectly aligns with STANLEY Mechanical Security’s vision of security as more than just a product or service; we view this as an opportunity to not only contribute to the current security landscape, but revolutionize it,” said Carrie Lewis, Director of Marketing at STANLEY Mechanical Security. “The new Innovation Center shows how every product we design, engineer and produce begins and ends with the specific needs and demands of our customers’ varied environments in mind.

“This Center embodies STANLEY’s pursuit to always keep advancing, moving the industry forward by creating the highest quality and most reliable security technologies available. The Center’s environment encourages our team members to engage in explorations and the exchange of new ideas, sparking inspirations that will truly serve our expansive, loyal customer base,” stated Joe McCormack, President of STANLEY Mechanical Security.

The concept for the Innovation Center was largely established based on results collected from STANLEY’s Voice of Customer surveys over the past three years, which were instrumental in gauging and determining customers’ viewpoints and experiences with the STANLEY family of brands. The knowledge gained from these surveys has been translated into various features within the Center, providing STANLEY team members with the tools and strategies necessary for creating a more comprehensive, tailored security experience for customers nationwide.
