HIGH SECURITY INTRUSION PROTECTION

A quality intrusion detection system offers flexible protection against many security risks. STANLEY is a leading provider of conventional security systems and Advanced Encryption Systems.

STANLEY's Advanced Encryption Systems offer a fresh approach to line security. Many older intrusion detection systems depend on a direct line of communication to the central station, generally via telephone lines. These analog systems can be overcome by cutting a wire, which severs the connection to the central station. This blinds the central station to your alarm activity, and can leave your branches vulnerable.

Our Advanced Encryption Systems are a more reliable, modern alternative. These systems are completely digital and heavily encrypted, making them much more difficult for intruders to overcome. Additionally, they rely on 2-way communication that is tested and verified at completely customizable intervals – so in the event that the connection is lost on either end, the central station is aware and empowered to act accordingly.

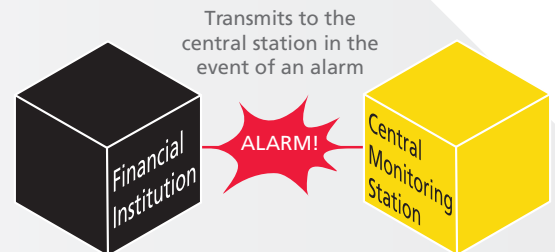

Our Intrusion Detection systems have many additional features so your employees and branch stay safe and secure:

- ▼ Early Ambush
- ▼ 2-Person Disarm
- ▼ Dual Authentication
- ▼ Wireless Hold Up
- ▼ Area Re-Arm
- ▼ Monitor Delay
- ▼ Cellular Communication
- ▼ Passcode Follows Scope
- ▼ Area Arming
- ▼ Remote Security Control
